September 23rd – Homecoming Gala

This will be the night that the Edson and District Recreation Complex will be transformed into a dining hall for hundreds who are proud to have called, or still call Edson home. The evening will feature a special Homecoming Supper, and after some time to visit and catch up, entertainment will take to the stage to keep your feet moving and fingers tapping. Music for the evening will be provided by “The Classics” an eight-piece Rock n' Roll / Rhythm & Blues band based in Edmonton.

Today, these highly-skilled musicians and singers send the energy off the stage at clubs, school gymnasiums, and beach pavilions, just like in the 'old days' when the music was still brand new. Over the years members of The Classics have shared the stage with such internationally acclaimed artists as: The Guess Who, Roy Orbison, Tommy Banks, Bobby Curtola, The Fireballs, P.J. Perry, and David Clayton Thomas (later of Blood, Sweat and Tears), to name a few.

The 100th Anniversary Committee is hoping that this will be a night to remember as the music will span the decades.

DECEMBER 2nd, 2010

This was the first event of our 100th Anniversary celebration, and the 23rd annual Chamber of Commerce Santa Claus Parade, "Building Edson Through the Ages."

This parade started on 1st Avenue, then move its way through town, to end up at the Leisure Centre, where a massive crowd gathered for a cup of Hot Chocolate and a number of fun activities for the entire family. Check out some of the pictures on this site's Photo Page.

DECEMBER 3rd and 4th, 2010

event completed Winter Festival

Many free activities were planned in and around the Edson and District Leisure Centre. Besides the Hockey, Skating and Swimming inside, there was Snowshoeing, an Ice Maze (see pictures of this on the Photo Page) , and Ice Carving Ring Toss, horse drawn sleigh rides, music filled the air, and of course a visit from Santa.

Friday the 3rd, featured a kids movie at the Nova Theatre in the morning, followed by a Teens movie in the afternoon. This was possible because it was a non-school Friday.

Great fun was enjoyed by all who bundled up to take on the early December weather conditions. Perhaps the best part of the weekend for many families was the fact they didn't have to keep opening up their wallets, and all activities were FREE! Just like the good old days.

Musical Auditions Conducted in the Christian Reform Church

Four local musicians competed for a seat on the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra when it performs in Edson at the end of September to conclude Centennial celebrations in 2011.

“They are all people from Edson, born and raised here,” hints Les Halliwell, Centennial event committee chairperson. “Two are in their Master’s program in music, one is a teacher, and one works in a secretarial position.” But that is all he will say for now.

The competitors were videotaped and the tapes sent to the director of the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra. A final decision will be made as to who will win the opportunity to play with the orchestra. “For some young person, it is going to be the opportunity of a lifetime,” says Mr. Halliwell. “We’ve spent a lot of time negotiating with the symphony over this opportunity, and normally it’s not done. But in this situation the ESO are excited about it and they will do the best they can with it, and we will give them the best musician they can get.”

2011 not only marks the 100th anniversary of Edson, but the 60th anniversary of the ESO.

‘The Show of the Century’ – Red Brick Theatre

Fans of Pandora Players and anyone who enjoys fashion and history were delighted with “The Show of the Century” at the Red Brick Theatre. The original three evening performances were sold out for some time, so a matinee performance had to be scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Tracy Templeton co-wrote the production with her mother, Bunt Madden, and together they found a unique way to celebrate Edson’s Centennial: using some fashions from throughout the past century to tell the story of Edson’s history and it’s accomplishments as a community.

Templeton says that she and her mother have put together the ensemble of over two hundred costumes from various pieces that have been kept throughout the years. The play also is a return of Pandora Players, Edson’s community theatre group after a hiatus of some years.

Shaw Cable agreed to record all four of the performances, with the hope that a video can be produced and available to the public later this year.

Elks Club Snow Golf Tournament

Residents of Edson's east end are no strangers to a peculiar scene that plays itself out on their streets and avenues every February: people playing snow golf.

Once again, Edson Elks and Royal Purple hosted their annual Snow Golf Tournament. This was their 15th year, according to event coordinator, Alf Weisser.

Mr. Weisser says that the course is always the same: tee off takes place at the Lions Park. "You can tee off with almost anything: from a baseball bat to a tennis racket or hockey stick."

But once the tennis ball is in play, players must use a golf putter to play the 10-hole course. Asphalt and snow make for the greens and for the "holes" themselves, pieces of plywood with six inch holes .

And just what possible hazards and traps lay in wait for the avid snow golfer? Mr. Weisser laughs and says, "We've had balls lost under vehicles, some caught up in tree branches, we've had dogs run after the balls, and the odd vehicle has driven over a ball or two."

MARCH 19th, 2011

Edson's wrestling team, the Edson Gladiators, hosted the 2011 Championships at Parkland Composite High School. Tournament director, Curtis Brinker, said that the event featured some of the best amateur freestyle wrestlers from across the province.

"There were between 200 and 250 junior and senior high kids and close to 100 elementary school children.

Admission to this event like many others planned throughout this Anniversary year was free. Coach Brinker says that the club was aware of Edson's Centennial when it thought about bidding for the tournament and believed this would be another event befitting a year in which Edson celebrates its 100th anniversary.

"Edson continues to grow with the diversity of events it hosts, and this is a sign of that," says Mr. Brinker. And as an added bonus: hosting the Alberta Open tournament assisted in sponsoring five students from the Gladiators to attend the nationals in Windsor, Ontario later in the season.

“No Fun City”, the work of Kate Kroll

Is live music being silenced? Cities around the world are experiencing the death of the independent live music venue. Set in Vancouver, which has long been known as No Fun City, this documentary is a passionate tale about a tight-knit music scene and its ongoing battle for a place to call home. Witnessing the ups and downs of life behind the scenes, the camera follows as venues are shut down, parties are raided, and musicians resort to playing in illegal venues, DIY warehouses, and even parking lots, mostly located in the downtown eastside Canada's poorest zip code. These brave supporters of punk and metal face irate neighbours, police raids, evictions, deportation, million dollar lawsuits, and even city hall in order to keep their underground music scene alive.
